COLONIAL GARDENS' INTRODUCTIONS FOR 1940

LIBERATOR (Baerman) (Sultan (Crow) x Flaming Meteor)

We have always made it a rule never to name a glad after a political or controversial figure, so lest anyone jump to the conclusion that this name has anything to do with either side of the current insanity abroad, we hasten to make a complete disavowal. We have had this name up our sleeves for several years awaiting the arrival of a red or scarlet gladius sufficiently outstanding to merit so great a name. When the brilliant scarlet seedling which won the grand championship in the seedling class at Wisconsin in 1938 proved a runaway propagator in addition to possessing all its other fine qualities we decided we had the scarlet we wanted. Liberator is a brilliant, bricky orange-scarlet of the highest lustre and smoothness we have ever seen in a scarlet glad. A slight silviness of sheen may be noted at the extreme edge of the petals. Form is so precise as to make the florets look carved.

Liberator is descended from the four greatest reds of an earlier generation: Purple Glory and Dr. Bennett (Sultan), Pfitzer's Triumph and Aflame (Flaming Meteor).

A very consistent regular performer of good height, producing fine, cuttale spikes from small bulbs and even blooming from bulblets in 75 days. Foliage, so often indicative of vigor, is up to three inches wide. We consider Liberator a very auspicious beginning for a new decade of glad introductions.

Bulbs each, any size: $12.00. Bulblets: $1.00 each.

EDVARD GRIEG (Prestgard) (Parentage unknown)

Our first "blue" introduction. Similar to the well known Ave Maria in color except that the throat marking is less distinct. The tallest blue we grow. Even from planting stock it will open eight large florets at a time. Has fine foliage and a good bulb. A good propagator. We consider Edvard Grieg a genuinely worthwhile addition to a very limited color class.

Bulbs each, any size: $6.00. Bulblets: $.75 each.

GOLDENHEART (C. Fischer) (Picardy x Pruitt No. 169)

Usually the color classification of a glad is determined by the color found near the edge of the petals—in this case a warm light pink. But this could hardly be called a pink glad, as the soft yellow of the throat pours out in such generous profusion as to cover fully two-thirds of the petals. If you grow the beautiful variety, Conquest, we might describe Goldenheart for you as a ruffled Conquest with much more yellow in the throat. The fine suede texture of Picardy is very noticeable in this seedling. A tall grower with a moderate flowerhead; good propagator.

(Pruitt No. 169, as we learned several years after using it, was a seedling of Betty Nuthall x Gloria.)

Bulbs each, any size: $3.00. Bulblets: $.50 each.

LEGEND (C. Fischer) (Picardy x Maid of Orleans)

The soft, lush, quiet beauty of this huge light pink glad carries a remarkable effect of bland tranquility. In form it is somewhat reminiscent of Margaret Fulton but is more elegantly recurved, and of course it is far larger. In fact it rivals well grown Picardy for size.

The color of Legend is a pure light pink blending to an entirely unmarked creamy white throat. Will show a light flecking in certain weather. Has a stronger spike than Picardy and will not crook in hot weather. A very tall grower with heavy foliage. Placement is excellent propagation heavy. Top notch in color, size, height, and general vigor.

Bulbs each, any size: $12.00. Bulblets: $1.00 each.

VALOR (originally "Radiance") (Baerman) (Picardy x Tip Top)

Deep salmon pink verging onto scarlet with a small distinct throat blotch of white. Another stalwart performer that, like our other introductions of this season, should prove a good commercial. VALOR opens a long ribbon of bloom. Placement, habits, and propagation are excellent.

Bulbs each, any size: $3.00. Bulblets: $.50 each.
